Congratulations to the newly elected Delegates and Chapter Officers

Last month ACSS held its triennial election of new chapter officers and delegates. The new chapter officers will begin serving their three year terms in October. The newly elected chapter delegates will congregate at the ACSS' 14th Delegate Assembly on October 11th and 12th and will have the opportunity to make decisions that will shape and guide the organization for the next three years.

Since 1990, ACSS has been governed by Excluded Employees just like you! From this recent election cycle, ACSS gained an elite group of leaders that consist of Managers and Supervisors from various departments and agencies across the State. They bring with them the skills and experience to make your Chapter and the Association stronger. Turn the page to see your Chapter's results!

Delegate Assembly 2024 is coming up!

October 11-13, 2024

Delegate Assembly is a two-day event. On the first day, there is a training session for Delegates and Officers as well as an evening meet-and-greet opportunity. The second day is the Assembly of the Delegates. The elected Delegates gather to review proposed changes to the governing documents of the Association. They then have the important task of voting for or against these proposed changes, which can affect the future of the Association. The Delegates will also elect new Board Members to serve the next 3-year term. The day after Delegate Assembly the first Board Meeting of the newly elected Board Members is held. The purpose of the board meeting is for the Board to elect a new panel of Statewide Officers to serve the next three-year term.

This triennial event truly showcases how any ACSS member can have the opportunity to represent their fellow colleagues, take on a leadership role to help make positive changes, and participate in a 100% member-led organization.

Meet your new Labor Relations Representatives!

Charles Harris-Malmsten
 Charles represents ACSS members who work in the City of Sacramento. A licensed California attorney, Charles received his law degree from Lewis & Clark Law School in Portland, OR and his undergraduate degree in Anthropology from Occidental College in Los Angeles. Charles' practice predominantly consists of labor advocacy, previously advocating for the members of SEIU Local 1000 and later representing and assisting managers at the UC Davis Medical Center. If you are in need of representation or have a difficult job-related issue, contact Charles at cmalmsten@acss.org.

Angela Stevens
 Angela represents members throughout the Central Valley and San Diego. She received her law degree from McGeorge School of Law and her undergraduate degree from University of Nevada, Las Vegas. She worked as a law clerk for California Department of Human Resources, as well as Sacramento Juvenile Public Defender. Upon graduation, she practiced criminal defense law in Kentucky. Angela is a member of the Kentucky Bar and planning to take the California Bar exam. If you are in need of representation, contact Angela at astevens@acss.org.

Attend a Chapter Meeting

The best way to stay connected and get involved is to attend your local Chapter Meeting. In-Person or Virtual!

Here are the top reasons why members attend Chapter meetings:

- To learn more about what ACSS is doing to help the rights and wages of Excluded Employees
- Networking/Socializing with other members
- Learn about the benefits of membership
- The free dinner
- Ask questions and talk to my Labor Relations Representative about my job issues

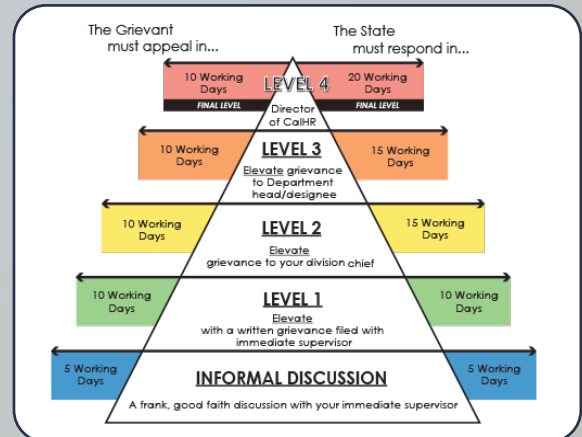

Come to a Chapter meeting this quarter!
